

Property & Casualty Actuarial Careers at Allstate

Allstate actuaries enjoy the prestige and recognition that comes from working for one of the largest Property & Casualty (P&C) companies in the nation. Allstate P&C actuaries can expect to receive competitive salaries and benefits along with many opportunities for career growth.

Opportunity. Responsibility. Challenge.

P&C actuaries are experts in evaluating costs, risks, and other issues associated with providing property and casualty insurance coverage. P&C actuaries determine adequate and equitable prices for contingent events, help develop new products, and evaluate a company's financial condition. As experts in their field, P&C actuaries can also be called on to provide expert advice or testimony on financial issues and ratemaking techniques.

Because of their broad knowledge base and experience, P&C actuaries often participate in making decisions that ultimately shape company direction and philosophy and are key players on a company's management team.

Career Opportunities

Our actuaries have a wide variety of career paths. Various rotations allow actuaries to work in different departments throughout their careers.

Some opportunities include:

- Pricing standard auto, non-standard auto and property insurance
- Commercial pricing
- Research

- Specialty Product Lines pricing

Other rotations provide valuable non-actuarial experience such as short-term rotations to finance, underwriting, claim reserves, marketing, and field offices.

Study Program

Since a series of Casualty Actuarial Society (CAS) exams must be completed prior to becoming an accredited actuary, Allstate is committed to providing an environment conducive to exam success.

Our study program offers the following to eligible students:

- A portion of study time allowed during work hours
- Payment of examination registration fees if eligible
- Study materials
- Seminars
- Exam overview sessions

Continuing Education

Allstate also has a commitment to continue the education of its actuaries beyond training and exams. Allstate sends credentialed actuaries to the CAS annual meetings, CAS-sponsored seminars and other educational events to help actuaries keep pace in a constantly changing environment.
