How can we make being a parent a little EASIER?

Having a teen driver can cause stress for a parent on many levels. Mostly you worry about their safety. But you're also likely to be concerned about expenses, including higher insurance rates and what might happen if your teen is in a crash.

Talk to your Allstate Agent about Your Choice Auto® and other teen safe-driving tools that can help you breathe a little easier.

Your Choice Auto®

Your Choice Auto® has innovative features that can help you feel better protected if your teen¹ does crash, and save you money if they don't.

ACCIDENT FORGIVENESS

Limits the amount your rates could go up just because of an accident, even if it's your fault.²

SAFE DRIVING BONUS®

For every six months your family remains accident-free, you'll get up to 5% off your renewal bill. That's on top of any discounts that may apply for being a safe driver or a good student.

DEDUCTIBLE REWARDSSM

Get $100 off your deductible the day you sign up and earn another $100 for every year you¹ don't have an accident — up to $500 total.

TICKET MITIGATION

Limits the amount your premium could go up just because of a minor violation (one minor violation per policy in a three-year period).²

The Good Hands® Coverage Checkup can help you decide what type of coverage you may need. Ask your Allstate Agent for a free Good Hands® Coverage Checkup today.

Talk with your Allstate Agent.

Your Allstate Agent can provide you with information to help you decide if your levels of coverage are adequate now that you have a teen driver. For example, you might consider more liability coverage. Your Allstate Agent can also show you ways you can save through discounts and even the type of car you buy.

Talk with your teen.

Your involvement in your teen's driver training can play a big part in preventing crashes. Ask your Allstate Agent for tools that can help, including a Parent-Teen Driving Contract that can help you start the conversation. For additional resources, go to allstate.com/teen.
