

Yea!

THANKS TO CONGRESS FOR VOTING "YEA" ON THE MOST IMPORTANT TEEN SAFE DRIVING BILL IN HISTORY. WE FEEL THE SAME WAY.

Car crashes have been the #1 killer of teens for too long. And if you've ever been touched by the death of a teen, you know the emotional toll it takes. Families and friends are left feeling helpless and empty, wondering "why?" Schools and entire communities are never the same. That's why over five years ago, Allstate set out to stop this deadly epidemic.

Allstate led the fight by advocating for national Graduated Driver Licensing (GDL) standards. We backed provisions that have proven to reduce the number of fatal crashes among 16-year-olds by up to 40%. We spread the word, lobbied and built an active Facebook community, Save11, based on the startling fact that an average of 11 teens were dying in car crashes every day. Today, the Save11 community is a powerful force. Together, we encouraged Congress to act.

On June 29th, the hard work paid off. Congress passed national GDL legislation within the Transportation Reauthorization bill (MAP-21) encouraging the states to adopt optimal teen safe-driving standards. Last week, President Obama signed this historic bill into law.

Now it's up to the states. If every state adopts these standards, together we can save thousands of teen lives. Yea, indeed.

It's time to stop counting teens lost and start celebrating teens saved. That's Allstate's Stand.
