

Allstate in New York

For more than seven decades, Allstate has built its reputation on promising to be there when customers need help to protect their lives, families, property and communities. We work to support and assist people through times of loss, and to help them prepare for tomorrow by securing their financial futures.

The values that help guide our business – integrity, caring, dependability, diversity and performance – are also at the core of our commitment to New York communities that are home to our customers, agents and employees, and that make our success possible.

As the largest carrier of auto and property insurance in New York, we feel a part of the communities we serve, and are dedicated to making a difference. Through The Allstate Foundation, employee and agent volunteer activities and charitable gifts, the Company contributes to nonprofit organizations across New York State.

Both here in New York and across the country, Allstate is committed to strengthening our communities, protecting our customers, providing a great place to work and operating our business with integrity. That's our stand.

Volunteering in the community: Helping Hands

To give customers peace of mind and to help them quickly recover from misfortune is the business promise we make every day. We believe it's our responsibility to go beyond that promise by building partnerships to help improve the New York community as a whole. These partnerships are demonstrated and supported through corporate sponsorships, Helping Hands committees that encourage community volunteerism, and by the financial contributions of The Allstate Foundation.

"You're in Good Hands with Allstate®" is more than a company slogan – it's a way of life. More than 50 percent of Allstate employees in New York participate in volunteer activities through the company's Helping Hands program, making a significant impact in the lives of those they touch. They can be found painting homes, rehabbing parks and buildings, working in soup kitchens, spending time with seniors and conducting food and clothing drives throughout local communities.

The Allstate Helping Hands program, which is celebrating 28 years of community service, has been recognized for bringing caring and compassion to communities all across America. With more than 200 committees countrywide Helping Hands organizes volunteer events that support our communities.
