

Allstate in Alabama

For over 75 years, Allstate has been a champion of business and social initiatives to help improve the quality of life for Americans.

We help protect people in times of loss and help them prepare for a financially secure future. In 2005, Alabamians entrusted Allstate with 129,589 homes and other dwellings, 294,341 autos and 26,324 lives.

We have seen the devastation from multiple hurricanes and catastrophes over the last two years. These storms have impacted thousands of people. Allstate is working to create a stronger public/private partnership to protect people, families, communities and our national economy more effectively from catastrophes. We are taking a leadership role in this area because we're focused on helping to educate and protect consumers.

Allstate is an integral part of the communities in which it does business. Right here in Alabama our Foundation grants, corporate investments, supplier contracts, jobs and taxes paid in 2005 helped build stronger communities and fuel local economies.

Of course none of this would have been possible without the hard work and dedication of our people. Allstate employees and agents bring caring and compassion to communities all across America through volunteerism and community involvement. "You're in Good Hands® with Allstate" is more than a company slogan; it is a way of life.
