Now, I'd like to switch topics and ask some questions about the issue of retirement. Now, retirement can mean different things to different people. For instance, some people might consider themselves retired when they stop working while other people might consider themselves retired when they reach the required age to collect social security benefits or a pension. We're interested in everyone's opinion on this topic, regardless of current age or employment status.

12. First, in your opinion, how would you define retirement? In other words, what does it mean to be retired? [Probed:] What else can you tell me about that? (Coded from Open-Ended Answers)
